

DAILY PRAYER: Pray for the following areas on their corresponding day.

MONDAY: Business, Science, and Technology

Pray for business leaders making difficult decisions and the impact that it has on employees and their families, pray for hope and peace amid financial uncertainty, and pray for God to sustain the hearts and quicken the minds of people in technology, innovation, and medical science.

TUESDAY: Arts, Entertainment, and Sports

Pray that God would reveal himself through all that is created, that people find community in shared interests and activities, and that we may adapt to this unique time where we must enjoy these things apart from one another.

WEDNESDAY: Government

Pray for leaders in government around the world, for unity within our own country and a willingness to help and be helped by the creativity and expertise of the global community, and pray that God is honored in word and deed.

THURSDAY: Media

Pray that God nurtures a humble desire to seek truth and wholeness across all forms of media, that journalists do not grow weary in keeping the public informed, and that those with a following, even a small following, on social media put others first and refrain from divisive discourse.

FRIDAY: Education

Pray for students, teachers, and professors, for those who work at or attend colleges and universities, for school bus drivers, custodians, and school cafeteria workers. Pray for low-income students and the school officials working to keep them healthy and fed.

SATURDAY: Family

Pray for members of your family, for those who need a miracle and those who've wandered or do not know Christ. Pray for families in our country and around the world, that they draw close to one another, and for those whose family is distant, that they find comfort in the family of God.

SUNDAY: Church, Christian Service, and Nonprofit

Pray that although many are not able to worship together at this time, we find community and belonging and new, creative ways to be invitational to those outside the Church. Pray for the sustenance of those in nonprofit and service to others, as they provide hope and help to so many.
